Mortality-Partial reports of mortality from 17 counties show a total of 176 deaths from all causes, classified by type as follows:

General diseases, 61; nervous diseases, 7: circulatory diseases, 15: respiratory

General diseases, 64; nervous diseases, 7; circulatory diseases, 15; respiratory diseases, 25; digestivo diseases, 16; genito-urinary diseases, 4; puerperal state, 3; locomotory diseases, 1; maiformations, 1; early infancy, 12; old age, 8; external causes, 19; 18-defined, 5; total, 176.

Attention is called to the large number of deaths from whooping cought, which should be a lesson to those who consider whooping cough a trivial disease.

Health officers and registrars are requested to state on the monthly postal report the number of deaths occurring in their respective localities during the month reported, or report 'No deaths.'

Do not leave this space blank.

Please be careful to state correctly the age, date of birth, date and, place of death and place of death and place of death and place of death to be signed by the attending physician, coroner or two cliticens; do not accept a certificate unless it is so certified. You are urged to read carefully and be governed by the instructions in the pamphiets of the United States census office sent you some time since, also preserve the pamphiets for future reference. Original death certificates should be sent to the County Clerk not later than the first of each month.

Postal reports should be carefully made out and sent in on the lirest of each month; state plainly the number of cases of each disease reported.

AUBREY L. WISKER TALKS OF MOAPA

Probably the first man to register at a city hotel from Moapa, Nev., is Aubrey L. Wiskey, who, with his wife and three children, is at the Wilson for a day or two. Mr. Wisker is one of the men who followed the Salt Lake route to the Muddy valley, and bought, with his partner, a 200-acre ranch in the heart of that country. His place is six miles from Moapa station, the pres-ent end of the track, and the region is the center of activity, as there two steam shovels are at work, and some very heavy work is to be done.

"It is a good country," said Mr. Wisker, "and it will be heard from in the time. It was settled forty years go by Utah people, but many new setters have gone in owing to the advent ers have gone in owing to the advent the new road. As Moapa is more contrally located than Pioche, De La Mar or other places, there is already a movement on foot to secure the countyseat of Lincoln county for the town, which, though a small settlement as yet, is destined to become the busiest street, but on every building all over the town that boasted a flagstaff, and on a great many that had no flagstaff at all the "Red, White and Blue" floated in the breeze. At least it should have floated there, but as there was very little breeze thre was naturally very little floating in it. But it was a fine display, and there was a spirit behind it that spoke for far more than a few strips of bunding.

The request of the Mayor was more universally compiled with throughout the city than ever before, and many exercised their ingenuity in carrying out novel plans of decoration. In one of the store windows a novel idea was seen in the shape of a small Betay Ross finishing the first specimen of "fold Glory." Many of the girls even went so far as to wear new neckwear in the national colors. little place in the country."

Mr. Wisker is a mining engineer and he is now going to the new Bull Runmining camp in Elko county to pass the summer, leaving his partner at the ranch. It is a fertile country along the Muddy and the climate is nearly the same as that of southern California.

UTAH BOY WILL BE A CONTESTANT

Donald Beaureguard left for St. Louis last evening, where he goes to represent the University of Utah in the first national oratorical contest which takes place on the 22nd of this month. Mr. Beaureguard was selected to represent Utah at a local contest which was held on June 2, and since that time he has been studiously at work studying the seven subjects which have been as-signed for extemporaneous speeches. He feels confident and gives assurance to his friends that he will do his best to represent Utah in the contest with her sister State representatives. Contrary to all previous plans, it has

This is quite a wide diversity of opinion, but it is exactly the idea of the two extremes, the buyer and the seller.

The reason for this is found in the fact that not for years past have the buyers had to offer such a high rate for Idaho, Utah and Wyoming fleeces, and the growers are correspondingly happy. As a result, there is at present no wool to buy, the States having been practically cleaned of this important product of the country. PRISONER ON PAROLE LEAVES FORT DOUGLAS

The police of Sait Lake have been notified to look out for Albert Brown a private of the Thirty-third company coast artillery. Brown was apprebended at Fort Douglas several months ago, having been wanted by his organization for desertion, and upon which charge he was tried and was sentenced by a general court-martial, convened in his case, to serve for the term of ten years, as punishment for his crime. This sentence was imposed upon Brown during the latter part of 1903. Fort Douglas being designated as place of confinement. On January 1964, Brown having conducted him self in a proper mannaer, was paroled by the commanding officer of the post, and, although required to work about the post at various jobs, he was required to be at the guardhouse at 9 p. m. daily. He failed to report at the proper time on Monday night, and at Il o'clock the officer of the day, grow-ing a little uneasy as to Brown's ab-sence, sent a detail to the city to inquire as to his whereabouts, without any result whatever. A description of the prisoner has been furnished the police, who will use every endeavor to effect his capture. Brown was consid-ered an ideal prisoner, and his sudden departure came in the nature of a great

TO HAVE PRACTICE MARCH.

The companies of the Twenty-ninth infantry at Fort Douglas will doubtless take part in a practice march during the month of July, although arrangements have not been completed. Twelfth and Twenty-second batteries, it is said, will go to Strawberry Valley on the first of July for artillery prac-tice, which will consume about ten days. On the 10th of July it is probable that the infantrymen will leave for that place, where they will be joined by the batteries; and the troops will then go to Fort Duchesne, a distance of nearly 100 miles, which will take about five days to cover. The military maneuvers of the Dapartment of the Colorado will be held at Duchesne this year, and the companies of the Second year, and the companies of the Second infantry at Fort Logan will participate with the boys from the fort. The journey, although a long one, will be quite beneficial to the troops taking part, and since returns for three weeks' supplies are to be submitted, the men will be absent about saven weeks. In the be absent about seven weeks. In the event of the visit of Lieut-Gen Adna R. Chaffee, chief of staff, to the post next month, the practice march will be postponed until after his departure.

President Bascom of the Utah Organization Reports on the National Gatherings.

O educate the public in hygienic matters out of the mouths of babes and sucklings is the ambition of the health authorities of the various States, according to President F. S. Bascom of the State Board of Health, who re turned yesterday from the conference of State Boards of Health and Marine hospital service at Washington. In plain language, the doctors want to teach the parents through the children. It has been found that children are very receptive of sew ideas in medicine and become so interested that they carry their discoveries

This was only one of the many interceting matters discussed at the conference. Another was the transmission and prevention of yellow fever. Drainage and kerosene on stagmant pools to exterminate the mosquite were generally recommended. The disinfection of rallway coaches was gene into. The Colorado delegate reported that in Denver the Pullman company cleans each car with compressed air, washes the woodwork subjects the bedding to sunlight and disinfects with formaldehyde twice a week or oftener. The action of the company is voluntary and the matter will be taken up with the rallways in Utah and all other States.

Hospital cars for the transportation of passengers afflicted with tuberculosis and other diseases were strongly recommended. The possibility of typhoid infection from cysters was one of the most striking subjects discussed. It was thought possible that the fattening of the bivalves in fresh water streams might sometimes result in contemporation and it was de-

The examination of pupils in the public schools for defects of vision and hearing and for threat and catarrhal affections in order that the troubles may be detected and treated ere it is too late received favorable consideration. Where nothing more can be done it is recommended that simple tests be used by the teachers.

Dr. Bascom speaks very highly of the tests of anti-toxins for strength and purity in the Government laboratory. After leaving Washington he attended the meeting of the American Medical association at Atlantic City and heard the great debate on the effect of collegiate training on the physical development of women.

THE Danish Sister society of Utah held its first outling to Lagoon yesterday and so successful was the whole affair that the committee members were unanimous in deciding that the outing should be made an annual one. Many of the excursionists went out on the early train and spent the whole day at the resort. The children, both boys and girls, ran races, the indies tested the strength of their arms in a tug-of-war, while the gentlemen participated in that humorous exhibition known as the kangaroo race. In the evening old and young mingled freely together and enjoyed themselves in dancing.

Though pobody here, says a London dispatch, less had the temerity to suggest it, probably the reason why Alfred Austin didn't sign his name to the curtain-raiser he recently submitted to Arthur Bourchier was that he was afraid it might be refused. Doubtless Mr. Austin thought that it would never do to let a London manager "turn down" the post laureate. But when Bourchier's official "reader' came to the anonymous manuscript of "A Lesson in Harmony" he found it so premising that he at once commended it to the actor-manager's attention. In a letter that accompanied the playlet the nameless dramatist wrote: "Should this little piece be accepted, the author makes it a condition that Mr. Bourchier will himself play the part." lay the part."

Hitherto the poet laureate has not enjoyed great success as a dramatist.
